BIG FIRE AT HOBOKEN.

Phoenix Line Pier Burned and Also Several vessels.

STARTED AMONG COTTON BALES

Steamship British Queen Totally Destroyed, as Were Also Almost a Dozen Lighters Which were Close to Her

RUMORS AS TO LOSS OF LIFE

NEW YORK, March, 19.—The pier of the Phoenix line, in Hoboken, was destroyed by fire Tuesday. The steamship British Queen was totally destroyed and several lighters were burned. The fire threatened the Campbell stores, and for a time it looked as if the flames would reach the Holland-American line docks. The Maasdam, of the latter line, was towed safely into the stream.

Men who were on the docks and on the British Queen when the fires started assert there were many lives lost. They said that longshoremen were imprisoned about the ship, and that some sailors asleep in the forecastle of the British Queen did not get out.

The first started at 8.30 o'clock near the end of the Phoenix pier, nearest the North river, among cotton bales, with which the entire pier was crowded. The flames ran in all directions until the whole structure, which was a wooden one surrounded by a frame shed, was enveloped. The steamer British Queen, owned by the Phoenix people, was tied to the south side of the pier and the flames quickly leaped to her upper decks. Three decks were covered with cattle pens, which, being built of light timber, were the means of at once spreading the fire over the steamer. There was no chance to cut her loose from her berth until about 11 o'clock when tugs laid hold on her and got her into mid stream. Her crew had a narrow escape. Captain Patterson was not aboard, he having become ill yesterday and gone to an hospital.

At 11.30 the fire on the piers and on the lighters left in the slips was under control. The Heathburn and several lighters were floating down stream all ablaze.

The first estimates of the loss, necessarily hurriedly made, follow: Piers, $300,000; British Queen, $400,000; cotton and lighters, $200,000. Seven lighters are more or less damaged.

About midnight Chief Croker, of the fire department of New York city became alarmed for the safety of the piers on this side of the river. The burning barges from Hoboken were floating to this side and the chief though it best to get a large force of engines and other fire aparatus lined up along the river front near the American line and other piers which are on the water front between Cortlandt and Murray streets.

At midnight the rumors were revived that there had been loss of life in the fire. These stories came from the mouths of longshoremen who claim to have seen from twelve to fifteen men stuggling in the water alongside the piers when the fire started. Whether they got out safely or not the longshoremen could not learn.

The voting upon amendments began at 3 o'clock and such a flood of them was offered that a final vote on the bill, as amended, was not reached until just before 6 o'clock. Amendments offered by Mr. Vest, of Missouri, providing for "Free ships and for the application of the provisions of the anti-trust law to the shipping industry" were rejected, as was the amendment prepared by Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, providing that no Chinese person should be a member of the crew of the subsidized vessel. THIRD ANNUAL SMOKER.

Given By The Undine Fire Company No. 2,—Four Hundred Guests Present.

Hospitality, good will, friendship and a merry good time in general were extended by these fire laddies to their guests who had assembled in their magnificent quarters on Bishop street. The Undine Fire Company know just exactly how to entertain, and Monday evening's banquet was no exception to their usual way of entertaining. The guests were met at the door by a reception committee, and ushered into the large parlors and game rooms on the second floor, where for an hour, men of all trades and professions mingled with each other, showing a friendly disposition which was the main feature that made this occasion such a grand success. The Logan Fire Company was represented by a large number of their members which showed the kindly feeling between the organizations.

The real good time of the evening was, when luncheon was announced and the guests invited to the spacious engine room which had been turned into a grand banquet hall. "Old Glory" was neatly draped from pillar to pillar, and over the doors, which presented a beautiful sight. The tables were filled with good wholesome eatables, and it was'nt long before everybody was partaking of the things that make men "fat and hearty."

Dr. Melvin J. Locke was chosen toastmaster, for the occasion and a better one could not have been selected as he did everything up in pomp and style. The first speaker of the evening was Hon. John G. "Billy" Doll one of the members of the company, furnished considerable amusement, when he sung that song entitled "His name above the Door" Billy is a German, but he has the Irish dialect down to perfection. The music furnished for this occasion by the Undine orchestra was grand, and deserves the highest praise and recognition. The orchestra is composed of Messrs. Smith, Brown, Graham, Boggs, Keister and Deitrick. The committee who had full charge of this smoker were Messrs. John Houser, John McSuley, Bruce Garman, although he was not able to attend, Henry Brown and Joe McMahon. This same Fire Company will give an Easter ball in the Armory on Monday evening the 31st. The boys will be around in a few days with tickets to sell and remember they are the ones who fight your fires and risk their lives to save your property. Treat them kindly.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Lord Kitchener Tells of the Recent Disaster in South Africa.

GOT HIS NEWS FROM METHUEN

He Explains Certain Particulars That Were Given in an Inaccurate Manner at the Time First News Was sent.

BOERS TOOK THEM BY SURPRISE

LONDON, March 17.—The war office has received the following from Lord Kitchener at Pretoria:

"Lord Methuen has sent me a staff officer with a dictated dispatch from which it appears that certain particulars previously given are inaccurate. The rear screen of mounted troops was rushed and overwhelmed at dawn. There was a gap of a mile between the ox and the mule convoys. The mounted supports to the rear of the screen with General Methuen, immediately reinforced by all the available mounted troops and a section of the Thirty-eighth battery maintained themselves for an hour, during which the convoys were closing up without disorder.

"In the meanwhile 200 infantry were being disposed by Lord Methuen to resist the Boer attack, which was outflanking the left of the rear guard. The Boers pressed that attack hard and the mounted troops, attempting to fall back on the infantry, got completely out of hand, carrying away with them in the rout the bulk of mounted troops. Two guns of the Thirty-eighth battery were thus left unprotected, but were in action until every man, with the exception of Lieut. Nesham, was hurt. Nesham refused to surrender and was killed.

"Lord Methuen, with 200 of the Northumberland fusiliers and two guns of the Fourth battery, then found himself isolated, but held on for three hours. During this period the remaining infantry, 100 of the Lancashiers, with some mounted men, mostly Cape police, who had occupied the Kraal near the wagons, also continued to hold out against the repeated attacks of the Boers.

"By this time Lord Methuen was wounded and the casualties were exceedingly heavy amongst his men. Their ammunition was mostly expended and the surrender was made at about 9:30 in the morning.

"The party in the Kraal still held out and did not give in until two guns and a pompom were brought to bear upon them at about 10 o'clock, making their position untenable.

"It is confirmed that most of the Boers wore our khaki uniforms. Many also wore our badges. Even at close quarters they could not be distinguished from our own men."

State Must Build Bridges.

Harrisburg, March 15—Auditor General Hardenbergh said yesterday that the most difficult financial problem that the state has had to deal with for some time will be the payment for bridges to take the place of those destroyed by recent floods. Whilst the law has been in effect since 1895, it was not generally understood. Now that it is known the state must pay for the erection of bridges, particularly those across navigable streams, a rush of business is anticipated. The auditor general also stated that at least $10,000 will be paid for the protection of forests from fire.

Fulton County to Have Its First Railroad.

Shippensburg, March 17.—It it said that Fulton county lumbermen have practically decided to build a railroad from their lumber tracts fifteen miles to Richmond to connect with the South Penn Railroad. The matter has been under consideration for some time, but only took definite shape recently. This will be the first railroad in Fulton county. Large tracts of land have been purchased during the past yaar in that county by a number of different lumber companies, and it is said they will join in building the road.

Was Given $2,750.

Potts, a specialist of Philadelphia, was paid $500 for six days.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Traveled on a Wager Wrapped Up in a Bag.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Billed as a choice sack of potatoes, a young man has arrived in Chicago from Kansas City, tied up in a bag. For three days and a half he had been confined in the sack, and during that time he had traveled nearly 700 miles in a freight car. The sack which covered him was enclosed in an open fruit case.

The traveler, Martin S. Klanedigger, a machinist of Kansas City, was nearly famished when he was cut from his prison at the Chicago and Northwestern freight house by a friend, who had been waiting for a day and a half in the city for him to arrive.

Klansdigger began his journey with only a quart of water and two pounds of crackers in the sack with him, this being a condition of wager of $300, which caused him to make the perilous trip. When released he was nearly blinded by the dust which had crept into the sack, and his throat and mouth were so parched that he could hardly speak, his little cask of water having been spilled after he had been on his journey only a day.

For nearly three days he had been without water and had it not rained Wednesday he would have died. During most of the storm the car in which he was packed was sidetracked in a country town and water came through a crack in the roof and fell on the sack. The burlap became quite wet and he was thus enabled to allay his thirst.

This award gives the Pittsburgers, including the liveryman who took them to the scene of the capture, $3300, to which is added $300 given to Splane, or $3600 for the Allegheny county claimants and $1400 for the Butler county officials.

A Keg of Beer Causes Wreck.

Lewisburg, March 15—A keg of beer caused a wreck on the Lewisburg branch of the Pennsylvania railroad, about 8 30 o'clock Wednesday night. The accident occurred on the river between here and Montandon.

A keg of beer that had evidently rolled from a car lay on the track in the bridge and when Conductor Cook's passenger train came along the keg succeeded in derailing one of the coaches and in the wreck that followed, the engine was quite badly damaged. It was 10 o'clock before the train got off the bridge. The engine was taken to the Sunbury shops yesterday for repairs.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Distribution of Spring Merchandise Making Rapid Progress.

TONE OF TEXTILE PRODUCTS STRONG

Wheat Yield in Farmers' Hands Not Calculated to Strengthen Values—Decrease in Movement a Sustaining Feature.

FAILURES DURING THE PAST WEEK

NEW YORK, March 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today said:

Outside of Massachusetts the labor situation is exceptionally free from controversy and even in the coal mines there is less than usual agitation as April approaches. Distribution of spring merchandise is making rapid progress, the most sanguine expectations being fully realized in all sections outside the strike area.

Consumers of iron and steel products are still anxious regarding conditions during the next three months Aftea July 1 it is believed that deliveries will be ample.

According to the Iron Age, the weekly capacity of pig iron furnaces in blast on March 1 had declined to 330,710 tons, or about 10,000 tons from the production of February 1. Considering the numerous disturbing factors at work during the month of February it is gratifying that a much heavier curtailment of the output did not occur. All records prior to February 1 are still eclipsed and the resumption of many idle plants this month practically assures new high watermarks in the near future unless some unforseen interruption occurs.

As operations at steel works were also retarded, furnace stock of pig iron declined only about 25,000 tons during February.

The most important event of the week was the heavy buying of steel bars by makers of agricultural implements in anticipation of higher prices becoming effective on April 1. Billets command large premiums for spot delivery, and more purchases are reported from foreign makers. Pipes and tubes are more active as the season advances while large contracts have been placed for structural shapes. Better transportation for coke is rapidly reducing surplus stocks in the yards and supplying furnaces with all the needed fuel.

Labor disturbances have tended to strengthen the tone of textile products by reducing available supplies, which were already none too large.

Official indications of farm reserves on March 1 were not surprising as to corn, dealers anticipating that supplies would be only about one half last year's, but the statement that 23 per cent. of the enormous wheat yield remained in farmers' hands was not calculated to sustain values.

A sustaining feature was the interior movement of only 2,681,891 bushels against 3,902,650 last year, while on the other hand total exports from the United States were but 2,598,472 bushels compared with 4,962,674 a year ago. As to corn both comparisons were striking, receipts aggregating only 1,893,950 bushels against 4,131,337 a year ago, while Atlantic exports fell to the lowest record for many years, 96,179 bushels against 3,329,902 in 1901.

Failures for the week were 232 in the United States against 209 last year and 34 in Canada against 33 in 1901.

Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief." You don't have to diet. Eat any good food you want, but don't overload the stomach. MADE A GOOD IMPRESSION.

A Case of Well Developed Nerve, Coupled With Wit.

"There is absolute wit in some men's nerve," said a business man to a reporter. "My partner and I, with the intention of expanding our business, about a year ago decided to send a representative through the south. We looked over the field carefully and finally picked out a young man who was possessed of good address and who, we felt sure, would do the work.

"He had been convivial in former days, but his deportment had been such for a year that it made us feel confident he would do the proper thing. He was given $400 for expenses and was started out on the mission. It was the understanding that he was to make a daily report of his efforts.

"Two months passed by, and we never heard from him. We telegraphed repeatedly to different towns that were on his itinerary, but not a word could be learned regarding his whereabouts. Finally one day a hurried telegram, collect, came. It read:

"'I am not selling many goods, but am making a fine impression. Wire $100 quick.'

"The nerve of the fellow got our nerve, and, do you know, we wired him the $100, and afterward he made good. We have never asked him what he did during the two months, and he has never broached the subject to us. It was the wit that pleased us."—Washington Star.

Nature's Wonders.

The common flea leaps 200 times its own length. To show like agility a man six feet tall would have to leap a distance of 1,200 feet. The cheese mite is about one-quarter of an inch in length, yet it has been seen to take the tip of its tail in its mouth and then, letting go with a jerk, to leap out of a vessel six inches in depth. To equal this a man would have to jump out of a well from a depth of 144 feet.

And equally strange things are found among the plants and vegetables. A well known student of nature once tried the growing force of a squash. When it was eighteen days old and measured twenty-seven inches in circumference, he fixed a sort of harness around it, with a long lever attached. The power of the squash was measured by the weight it lifted, the weight being fixed to the lever. When it was twenty days old, two days after the harness was fixed on it, it lifted sixty pounds. On the nineteenth day it lifted 5,000 pounds.

Could Not Breathe.

Coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, other throat and lung troubles are quickly cured by One Minute Cough Cure. One Minute Cough Cure is not a mere expectorant, which gives only temporary relief. It softens and liquifies the mucous, draws out the inflammation and removes the cause of the disease. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. "One Minute Cough Cure will do all that is claimed for it," says Justice of the Peace J. Q. Hood, Crosby, Miss. "My wife could not get her breath and was relieved by the first dose. It has been a benefit to all my family." C. M. Parish.

Much Ado About an "S."

The printing of the Bible is the most strictly guarded work in existence, a fact which appears strange until we reflect on the mischief an inaccurate Bible might bring about. The king's printers and the two universities of Oxford and Cambridge give to the world all the Bibles printed in the United Kingdom except some printed by special license. A few years ago the question arose whether the word "spirit" in Matthew iv, 1, and Mark i, 12, should have a capital "S," it having been previously printed with a small one, and, although the word was obviously wrongly printed, it was not until after the ruling powers at the universities and the king's printers had met in solemn council that leave was given to use the capital letter.

Nothing sanctioned by authority in 1611 may be changed without creating something akin to revolution in the places where Bibles are printed.—Liverpool Post.

THE SAVIOUR'S BLOOD.

A Relic of the Crucifixion Preserved at Bruges.

Many cities profess to possess as a relic some of the blood of Christ, preserved from that which flowed from him during the crucifixion. St. Louis brought particles to Paris which he had received from the emperor of Constantinople. The Church of St. John Lateran, in Rome; the Imperial monastery at Weingarten, a church in Mantua and the Chapel of the Precious Blood, in Bruges, all put forward similar claims.

The precious blood at Bruges enjoys the widest fame and is reported to have been collected from the Saviour's wounds by Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus when they took down the body from the cross. It was brought to Bruges by Thierry of Alsace in 1147. He had received it from his brother-in-law, Baldwin, king of Jerusalem.

Nearly six centuries ago the extraordinary devotion paid to this relic at Bruges by the inhabitants and visitors had induced the ecclesiastical and civil authorities to institute a solemn procession in which it should be borne in the streets.

A confraternity of the precious blood, consisting of thirty members, with a prevost and four chaplains, was established to guard it at all times.

The procession takes place annually, and the blood, contained in a crystal cylinder and inclosed in its shrine, is carried about with much pomp and ceremony.

She Coxed In Vain.

He was a popular young dentist, with a clientele among the smart women, one of whom had been protesting for an hour that he was killing her. But he kept steadily at work with a soothing word occasionally, and as he said, "That will do for today," he added, "Now, I didn't really hurt you, did I, Miss V.?"

"N-no," she admitted reluctantly, "but I always felt as if you were just going to."

"That is it," said he. "Now, there is one infallible sign for which a dentist always watches when he is working on a lady's teeth and which she gives involuntarily when she is hurt. She can't help giving it, and when I see it I always stop."

"Tell me what it is?" she inquired eagerly.

"We never tell," he replied, with an inscrutable smile.

"Why?"

"Because you would immediately try to counterfeit it."—Washington Post.

"Dust Devils" of the Desert.

Travelers in the celebrated Death valley of California have described the wonderful contortions of the sand pillars that small whirlwinds sometimes send spinning across the hot plain. Even more remarkable are the "dust devils" seen by Mr. H. F. Witherby, the English explorer, in the valley of the White Nile. Sometimes two of these whirling columns, gyrating in opposite directions, meet, "and if they be well matched the collision stops them and a struggle ensues as to which way they shall twist. Gradually one gains the mastery, and the two combined begin to gyrate alike and then rush on together." Some of these whirls will strip the clothes from an Arab's back or twist a goat round and round like a top.

The Perfect Silence.

There is no sensation in the world like that which comes over you when walking through a grove of redwoods. Their great trunks rise hundreds of feet into the air and are lost in the dense roof of foliage like the columns of an Egyptian temple grown to superhuman height. On the ground there is no underbrush, but only ferns of a size and shape that suggest a prehistoric period and fallen trunks that have lain unrotting for 3,000 years. There is no sunlight, and no birds sing. If a storm arises, it is an hour before a drop reaches the ground. Here all is as it was since creation, and there is no time. It is the perfect silence.

A Happy Thought.

"Yes, Jones struggled along with historic plays and melodramas, but they wouldn't take. Now he has a wonder, a record beater."

"You don't say! What's the plot?"

"I don't know, but the play ends in the middle of the last act."

"The mid—say, what are you giving me?"

"Straight goods. The idea is to fool the people who always begin putting on their wraps before the curtain falls."—Baltimore News.

THE TURN OF LIFE.

Its Probable Effect on Woman's Health and Happiness.

Women look with apprehension upon that time generally known as the "change of life." Observation has shown them that sometimes that change is so far-reaching that it involves both mind and body in suffering. At such a time the mirror sometimes shows great changes in the face; changes which mark the pain and suffering which are being endured. Often, too, in these dolorous days there is almost complete physical collapse. The suffering woman drops into a chair and with closed eyes struggles against her weakness. The suffering of this critical period in woman's life often leaves its lasting scars on the mind as well as the body. This time of trial and trouble has been passed in ease and happiness by women who had learned the wonderful value of that woman's medicine, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. By the use of this remedy from a time of distress and misery to a time of comfort and happiness.

"It is now two years since I first began to use your medicines," writes Mrs. Charles E. Thompson, of Georgetown, Eldorado Co., Cal. "I first tried the 'Favorite Prescription' and found that before I had taken one bottle I was improving. When I commenced to take the medicine I thought I would never live through the 'change.' I suffered from all the troubles one could have and live. I had stomach trouble; lived on dry bread and hot water for three months, not being able to keep any food on my stomach; had constipation and awful headaches; was bloated at times in the bowels, had pain in the chest and hacking cough, but, thanks to Dr. Pierce I am not troubled any more. I used the 'Pellets' and the 'Golden Medical Discovery' in connection with 'Favorite Prescription,' and find all of them just as Dr. Pierce recommends them to be.

"Since last October I have traveled over hard, rocky roads in farm wagons, and felt no return of any of my old troubles, and I know that before using Dr. Pierce's medicines I could not have stood half of it, as the least jar would have caused aching from head to foot.

"I most highly recommend all of Dr. Pierce's medicines, and I hope all ladies suffering from female complaint will try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

The claim made for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription that it makes weak women strong and sick women well is a comprehensive one and covers every form of womanly weakness or sickness which medicine can be expected to cure. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity and dries the offensive drains which weaken women. It quenches the fire of inflammation, heals the gnawing ulcer, and cures the backache and bearing-down pains inseparable from female weakness. Mothers find in "Favorite Prescription" a wonderful tonic, imparting great physical strength, promoting the appetite and inducing refreshing sleep. It keeps the prospective mother in health and strength and makes the baby's advent practically painless

CLAIMS VS. CURES.

It is very much easier to make claims than to make cures. It is by its cures "Favorite Prescription" is to be judged and by the multiplied testimonies to these cures given by the grateful women who have been restored to perfect health and strength through the use of this great medicine.

"About five years ago I had very poor health," writes Mrs. S. E. Whalen, of Holden, Johnson Co., Mo. "After doctoring four years with our town doctors they gave my case up; said they had done all they could. I had been confined to my bed half my time; the other half could hardly drag around. I had such pains in my back and abdomen I could not stand on my feet for more than a few minutes. My feet were cold or burning, and my periods came too often. The doctors said it was change of life, so, as I had heard of Dr. Pierce's medicines, my husband got me a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' I took it and it helped me in some ways, so I wrote to you and followed your advice. I commenced 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' as I was so constipated all the time and pills would weaken me so that I would have to go to bed. To the great surprise of everybody I got well, and when I met my friends they would say 'I never thought you would be here now.' But I can say it was your medicine, which no doubt is the best in the world. Have no use for doctors since I tried your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is purely a vegetable preparation and cannot disagree with the weakest constitution. It contains no alcohol and is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription" if you wish to be cured as others have been. Insist upon the remedy with a record for the cure of weak and sick women.

Women suffering from disease in chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential and the written confidences of women are guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed in personal consultations. "FOREWARNED—FOREARMED."

That saying has a most forceful application to matters relating to disease and health. To be forewarned against disease, to know its cause and its cure, is to arm the health beforehand against many maladies. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is a book of forewarning. It teaches how to protect and preserve the health. This valuable work, containing 1008 large pages and over 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper-covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Cough Settled on her Lungs.

FAD BECAME A MANIA.

Tempted by Harvard Book Plates, a Doctor Turned Thief.

It would seem from the experience of the Harvard college library that book plate collecting may sometimes develop into a dangerous and expensive mania. A few years ago the Harvard library found that the engraved labels which it pastes on the inside of the covers of its books as marks of its ownership were disappearing from some of the less usad volumes. The older book plates, it appears, are highly prized by collectors, and some of them are particularly valuable for their artistic merit as well as for interesting associations with early book collecting in this country. These were naturally the special prey of the thief.

Detectives took the matter in hand, and the offender was discovered with full evidence of his guilt upon him. He confessed to stealing the library's property and to having it in his possession. By the time the matter reached the courts the greater part of the book plates had been restored, the thief having settled satisfactorily with the persons to whom he had sold or given them, and, as the prisoner had repaid the expense to which the library had been put, the college consented to leave the matter of sentence with the court, which imposed a fine of $150 on one count and put the other count on file, to be brought up again later if it should be desirable, meanwhile placing the offender under $1,000 bonds for his future appearance if he should be wanted.

A striking point in the case is that the guilty man is in no way a common criminal. His education (he has a degree of doctor) and his taste seem only to have made his thefts more intelligent and discriminating, however. He knew the value of his peculiar booty, and he knew how to dispose of it, his very personality being a protection to him in that part of his misdemeanor. Apparently the fad developed to a mania and that to kleptomania in his mind.

A number of the stolen plates have not yet been traced at all, and collectors have been warned against accepting Harvard plates of the older engraved varieties unless there is unmistakable evidence that they came honestly into the possession of the person who offers them.

LAW POINTS.

A druggist may be convicted of maintaining a liquor nuisance, though having a permit to sell liquor, holds the supreme court of Kansas.

The giving of a new note for an existing indebtedness will not of itself release collateral security held for payment of such indebtedness, holds the supreme court of Nebraska.

A child of divorced parents is a ward of the court and must not be removed from the state by the parent to whom the court has awarded the custody, holds the appellate court of Illinois.

A reservation of title in a conditional sale of goods is valid as between the parties and those succeeding to their rights, with knowledge of such reservation, either personally or from the records.

A decree or order for alimony in a divorce proceeding is not a debt within the meaning of that term as used in the constitution prohibiting imprisonment for debt, holds the supreme court of Washington.

A bequest in a will for the purchase of books on spiritualism, to be free to all, is held by the court of chancery of New Jersey in the case of Jones versus Watford (50 Atl. Rep., 180) to be a charitable gift which a court of equity will enforce.

How They Differed.

During the last term of the late Zeb Vance in the United States senate his brother, Robert Vance, was elected to represent the Asheville (N. C.) district in the lower branch of congress. One Sunday morning soon after Robert made his appearance in Washington a friend asked the senator if he and Robert agreed on the subject of religion as well as they did on politics.

"No," replied the senator; "Bob is a Methodist and believes in falling from grace, but never falls, while I am a Presbyterian and don't believe in falling from grace, but am all the time falling!"—New York Times.

Good Reason For Selling.

"I notice," said the man who had called in answer to an advertisement, "you state that you wish to sell out this business and can give good reason for doing so. May I ask what is your reason?"

"Certainly," answered the other man. "The reason why I want to sell out this business is that I'm not making any money at it."—Chicago Tribune.

The Same Tongue.

"Hi say, you know," said the cockney addressing the Bowery boy, "we cawn't be henemies; we 'ave to be brothers. We speak the same lyangwydge, you know."

"Wot t'ell. Holler fer an interpreter. You're wuzzy. I seen you batten your eye. Git propper; git propper!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Methods of Genius.

"Dr. Johnson could remember everything he wrote," said the literary man.

"That is the difference between Dr. Johnson and myself," answered the composer of music. "I write everything I can remember."—Washington Star.

How Flower Scents May Be Obtained In Three Ways.

Pure violet essence is said to be especially suitable to nervous people, but it must be obtained from the flowers themselves, not from the chemical imitations. Chemically derived perfumes are irritant, poisonous even, to persons of especially sensitive constitution.

True flower scents are obtained in three ways—first, by spreading fresh blossoms upon glass thickly smeared with pure grease, letting them stand in the sun and as they wilt replacing them until the grease is as fragrant as the flowers; second, by repeatedly infusing fresh petals in oil, and, third, by infusing them in ether, which is then distilled to a dry solid.

As this solid sells for about $250 an ounce it is easy to understand why the ether process, though far and away the best, is not commonly used. But the scented grease and the essences made by steeping it in pure spirit are never cheap. After all the scent possible has been extracted from the grease it is still fragrant enough to make the very finest perfumed soap.

All the citrine scents, bergamot, neroli, orange flower water, are refreshing and in a degree stimulating if properly prepared. To make a lasting perfume some animal base is essential—musk, civet or ambergris.

Getting Into Moral Debt.

Philip D. Armour, millionaire and philanthropist, continually warned young men against getting into debt. He loved free men and despised slaves. When asked if he admired a certain brilliant orator, he said: "He may have a superb voice and fine presence, but can't you hear the rattle of his chain? That man is not free. He is under moral obligations that demoralize him. He is not speaking the deepest thing in his soul, and I haven't time to hear any slave talk. I want a man to be just as free as I am."

On another occasion he said: "Don't get into debt—I mean moral debt. It is bad enough to get into debt financially. There goes a young man who is mortgaged. That young man is legging it along with a debt, and it will take twice as much power to get him along as the man without a debt. There are other debts and obligations that are embarrassing in their entanglements. Don't get into debt morally, my boy; don't get into debt so that you may not exercise your freedom to its limits."

The Sun Is Seldom on Time.

The sun does not keep good time. He is almost always too fast or too slow. Once about the middle of April he is just on time, then not again before the middle of June. At the beginning of September he joins the clock a third time, and lastly once more late in December. Now, it would seem as if he were startled at the way he had neglected us. In February he fell back until he was fifteen minutes late. By the beginning of March he had made up five minutes of his loss, and before the month is over he will have caught up to within five minutes of the schedule. Meanwhile the days have been growing longer very rapidly. We begin March with our nights longer than our days. We end it with our days longer than our nights. In the one month we have added to the length of our day an hour and twenty minutes, a bigger gain than any other month can show.—Professor S. C. Schmucker in Ladies' Home Journal.

Union Veteran Legion Held Their Annual Meeting on Thursday Evening.

The annual meeting of the Union Veteran Legion of which Dr. Theo. Christ of State College is the Commander was held in the Gregg Post rooms on Thursday evening. Business of importance was transacted and Albert Roberts of Bellefonte was initiated into the order. They fully expected their Grand Commander, General Brown from Washington D. C. but for some reason he did not come.

The Union Veteran Legion is composed of officers, soldiers, sailors and marines of the Union Army, Navy and Marine corps who during the war of the Rebellion volunteered prior to the 1st of July 1863 for a term of 3 years, and were honorably discharged after a service of at least two continuous years or were discharged by reason of wounds received in line of battle, also those who volunteered for a term of two years prior to July 22, 1861, and served their full enlistment. No drafted men or substitutes can join this organization.

After the business of the evening had been transacted a splendid supper which had been prepared by Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Mullen, Mrs. Smith, Miss Carrie Bayard and Mrs. Young, was enjoyed by all present.

Burned Seven Days.

The new burner for railroad signal lamps recently invented is being tried on the Philadelphia & Reading road and if it does what the inventor claims for it, it will be adopted throughout the entire system. The small oil lamps now used in signal boards and at switches must be cleaned daily, necessitating a great deal of time. The patent on the new lamp is in the burner and it is claimed that it will burn for seven days and seven nights with a pint of oil, requiring no attention whatever. The wick is shaped like a lead pencil and is automatically turned up. Several of these lamps have been placed in signal boards at Reading, and thus far they have done what was claimed.

Nerve Slavery.

It is present-day conditions—heaping burdens of work upon the nervous system that tells the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age in years is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Every organ depends upon its controlling power just as much as the engine depends upon the steam to put it into action. An engine won't go without steam. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

Throbbing, palpitating heart.
Sleepless nights.
Sudden startings.
Morning languor.
Brain fag.
Inability to work or think.
Exhaustion on exertion.
Flagging appetite.
Digestion slow.
Food heavy.
Easily excited, nervous, irritable.
Strength fails.
Loss of flesh and muscular power.
Settled melancholia.
Utter despondency.

The Turnip.

The seed of the globe turnip is about the twentieth part of an inch in diameter, and yet in the course of a few months this seed will be enlarged by the soil and the air into 27,000,000 times its original bulk, and this in addition to a bunch of leaves. It has been found by experiment that a turnip seed will under fair conditions increase its own weight fifteen times in a minute. Turnips growing in peat ground have been found to increase more than 15,000 times the weight of their seeds in a day.

EDITORIAL.

THE machine leaders, Judge John Gray Love, John "Oleo" Hamilton, E. Randolph Chambers, and W. Earnest Gray favor the renomination of John "Kerflopper" Thompson for the legislature. It looks like a case of "birds of a feather" doesn't it?

"I think Elkin would make the best governor Pennsylvania has had for years." This is the expressed opinion of Congressman Connell, the machine leader in Lackawanna county. When it is considered, however, that Congressman Connell has reached a period in life well in advance of the three score years and ten allotment it is not difficult to discern in his opinion the blight of age in his mental acumen.

READ the political announcements printed else where in this issue. In the candidacy of Henry Lowry, Philip D. Foster and Abram V. Miller we have representatives of our party who are widely known and universally respected and esteemed. With such men as these, loyal Republicans, men of high character and ability on our county ticket we can meet the enemy with odds in favor of our success at the polls.

State Librarian Rev Dr. George Edward Reed, has promptly come to the front with a repudiation of the report that he is opposed to the nomination of John P. Elkin for Governor. He, in company with other machine beneficiaries who enjoy the emoluments of public office, machine conferred, must yield to the bidding of his political masters. A humiliating position, indeed, for one of his intelligence and standing. The office of State Librarian was the purchase price of his political liberty and independence. He proves their complete surrender in his declaration for Elkin for Governor.

THE POOR FARM QUESTION.

The poor farm question is a pretty live one in a number of the counties of the State, but when the people are called upon to decide whether they will have a poor farm or not, they pretty generally vote the farm down. This is the conclusion reached by a writer on the Philadelphia Press who has evidently given the subject more than a cursory investigation. He points to the fact that Wyoming county recently took such action on the poor farm question when submitted to a vote and states that the reason for such action, and the only reason given is, it would cost money for the county to buy the farm in the first place.

With the State at large from which to make his observations, and the experience of many counties to establish the conviction that poor farms afford the best method of caring for the public charitables the writer reaches this the following logical conclusion. "It is pretty generally conceded that the farm system of providing for the indigent, giving those who are still able to work a chance to feel that they are doing something for themselves, is much better than the method so generally prevailing. In the long run it is cheaper. A well-managed poor farm, can be made to come pretty near paying for itself. Both systems have been tried in Pennsylvania, and it is perfectly safe to say that no county now having a poor farm would care to abandon that system, and in nearly every instance it has been proven that it costs much less to the people. There is no county in Pennsylvania that could not well afford to borrow, if necessary, the few thousand dollars required to provide a farm; and the objection to it on the part of so many of the people is unaccountable.

THE BEST LAUGH COMES LAST.

The machine organs are tearing their shirts over the success of John P. Elkin in securing state delegates favorable to his nomination for governor at three out of four county primary elections last Saturday. The popular "Indiana plowman" is the people's choice proclaims the machine organs and the result of the preliminaries in Blair, Lancaster and Franklin counties is cited as proof of their claims. The thinking people, the conservative citizen, will not be influenced or lead into an error of judgment by such ridiculous assertions. In machine organized counties Elkin will have the delegates in spite of opposition. The out come in the primaries in the above mentioned counties is evidence in support of this statement. in stalwart districts only stalwarts vote. There is no organized movement to defeat Elkin's nomination, hence his success at primary elections naturally follows. The Independents want Elkin nominated and they will do nothing to prevent his victory in the State Convention. At the polls, however, he will be confronted with a different condition, should he be, as is likely, the Republican candidate. His nomination is practically assured. His election is a horse of another color, an extremely doubtful quantity.

THE Supreme Court of the State yesterday made a decision under the pure food law which settles a point that has been for a long time in dispute. A grocer convicted of selling a bottle of raspberry syrup that had been adulterated contended that the statute was not violated unless the quantity of foreign substance is sufficient to make the compound poisonous or injurious to health. The court rejects this claim, and substantially affirms that adulterated food is adulterated food, regardless of the quantity of the adulteration. The Superior Court had previously taken a similar position in the same case.

ELKIN says he will be nominated as the Republican candidate for Governor and Durham says Elkin will be elected. No doubt Elkin speaks from a knowledge of fact, but Durham bases his prediction on his ability to surpass next November all previous records in fraudulent elections in Philadelphia.

THE SACK OF TWO CITIES.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

Pittsburg's franchise thieves have realized on their plunder and are not yet quarreling over division of the spoil. Like the Philadelphia Gang, they have sold out to the company operating street railways and killed competition. It can hardly be charged that they have "betrayed" the people, for the people never trusted them and never believed for a moment that it was their purpose to build competing lines. The people were betrayed by the Legislature which passed the Focht-Emery bills and by Governor Stone, who signed them for a consideration which he says was not $150,000, and which may have been "love and affection."

In Pittsburg, as in Philadelphia, there was in the minds of the people no misconception of the purposes of the grabbers and their official confederates. When Ashbridge threw away an offer of $2,500,000 made to this city and bestowed the franchises upon his fellow-conspirators, he did not betray any confidence reposed in him by the people, for the people long before had ceased to expect from him any honest discharge of duty, any regard for their interests.

From the inception of the charter grab the people of Philadelphia and Pittsburg expected to be robbed, and they were disappointed by Ashbridge and the Pittsburg rippers nor deluded by the preposterous pretenses of those sordid knaves that they were providing for street railway competition.

The people knew last June as well as they know now that they had been plundered and that the grabbers meant to sell the franchises and divide the proceeds with their confederates in office. That the Philadelphia Gang would be tricked out of its expected dividend on invested crime was not foreseen, and is of no consequence of it is a fact. The yelping of the Gang Organ is so agonized as to indicate that the grabbers have repudiated entirely the claims of their official accomplices and so offensive as to move every hearer to feel around for a brick.

Pittsburg's grabbers are reported to have received $2,250,000 and the odd quarter million is supposed to be enough to pay the expenses of the raid. Whether the $150,000, which Governor Stone says the head of the syndicate says was paid for the Executive signature comes out of the odd quarter million or is taken care of in the Bigelow share of the loot is a detail of no particular interest to the public.

From the above editorial in Phila. North American it appears all the promises of competing street railway lines and 3 cent car fares in Phila. and Pittsburg promised when the Focht—Emery bills were being passed under great pressure in last Legislature have vanished. The Phila. Inquirer which at first advocated the bills as it has and does nearly all outrageous propositions which the "gang" stands sponsor for, is now on the war path because the franchises have not been handled as it thinks they should have been.

In Pittsburg according to reliable informants this franchise business was handled in a satisfactory manner to those especially concerned and as the public expected it would be.

While the Franchise sale may be the cause of much trouble in Philadelphia political circles, and give the Inquirer—the gangs organ—much misery, it would appear that trustworthy gentlemen who oppose the Stone—Elkin—Flinn crowd say it will not in any way stop the determined fight which is being waged against the "gang" in Allegheny county and Western Penna. where it is commonly conceeded Elkin's chances of success are past recovery. Referring to the subject Hon. Thos. S. Bigelow of Pittsburg says:

"Politically, the transaction has no connections or ramifications. It cannot have. The public mind is so firmly permeated with knowledge of the rottenness of the Stone administration and the politics of those affiliated with it that nothing will prevent the people from expressing their convictions at the polls in November. Neither will the disposal of the elevated franchises have any bearing on Councils, and its future actions. It is my understanding that the men elected on the Citizens' and Democratic tickets were pledged to oppose elevated railroads. Nothing is, or can be involved, that will or should change the policy of the new Council. It was elected by the people for certain specified purposes and will carry out those purposes. The fight goes on."

Chairman Charles S. Crawford, of the Citizens' Committee of Twenty-five, said:

"The sale of the elevated franchises was a complete surprise to me. I had no idea that such a move was in contemplation. I do not see how it can have any effect on the Citizens' party. I know that as far as I am concerned it will have no effect. The anti-ring movement in Pittsburg is too well established to be affected by anything of this kind. I believe the people are so deeply interested in the fight against the machine that nothing could now turn the sentiment."

A MAN AMONG MEN.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

All indications point to the return of Hon. J. Henry Cochran, of Williamsport, to the State Senate for a third term from the 24th district embracing the counties of Lycoming, Columbia, Sullivan and Montour. Mr. Cochran, who positively declines the democratic nomination for Governor, has served his constituents and the Commonwealth with rare ability and fidelity.

The re-election of such phenomenally upright man is a most proper recognition of one whose public and private record is above reproach.

For over forty years this gentleman has been one of the foremost as well as most progressive business men in central Pennsylvania where he began life in a lumber camp as a day laborer.

Senator Cochran, one of the most modest and unasuming of men, has but little use for people who "put on airs", however if a poor laboring man, known to Mr. Cochran to be reliable, should go to him for a favor he is treated as cordially as are men of wealth, or those who stand high in social, business or political circles.

No man in Central Penna. has done as much to aid destitute and unfortunate people as has the Lycoming county Senator. Go where you will in the lumber camps, mills, manufacturies or among railroad men and you constantly hear of some kind or charitable act of Senator Cochran.

In the Senate chamber Mr. Cochran is the recognized leader of the minority party and it is admitted by his colleagues, regardless of party, that he is one of the most influential members of that body.

During the past eight years at every session of the Legislature Senator Cochran has been one of the most attentive members; measures which farmers and laboring people advocated received his earnest support. The anti-oleo and tax bills endorsed by our State Grange were advocated and defended by Senator Cochran with marked ability, force and untiring energy.

If the wise Creator spares Senator Cochran, Patrons and farmers of Penna., can rest assured that we will have on the floor of the Senate a gentleman who will defend and advocate all measures in which our class is especially concerned.

It is exceptional to have a man of Mr. Cochran's true manly qualities, honesty, honor and sincere devotion to the toiling masses condescend to go to our State law-making body. He deserves the support of every farmer, patron and laboring man in the 24th district.

We have been informed from various authentic sources that His Honor Judge Love, "the recognized leader of the Quay forces in Centre county", is doing a quiet little curb stone political missionary work. He is advocating the election of Elkin delegates to the State Convention and the renomination of John K. Thompson for the Legislature.

SENATORIAL SITUATION.

If rumors count for anything it can be said that there will be a contest for the Democratic nomination for State Senator in the Clearfield—Centre—Clinton district. Rumor has it that former Judge Krebs, of Clearfield will enter the lists with a determination to win the nomination if possible, Clinton county is said to be desirous of securing the nomination for George W. Hipple, Esq., of Lock Haven. Centre county will of course insist upon the re-nomination of Senator Heinle. From what we can learn, however, Senator Heinle has the assurance of Clinton county's support in the senatorial conference and moreover that the candidacy of Judge Krebs exists merely in the minds of a few of the Judge's most ardent admirers, who are anxious that he should receive the honor.

It is generally conceded that the course of Senator Heinle during his first term in the senate has been accorded general commendation throughout the district. His record has had the approval of citizens beyond the limits of his constituency as well and that it regarded as more than of sufficient merit for the Senator's renomination the following editorial, taken from last Saturday's issue of the Harrisburg Patriot, one of the leading Democratic organs in the State, bears evidence.

The Patriot said: A correspondent of The Patriot writes "What would you think of ex-Judge Krebs, of Clearfield, as a democratic candidate for senator from his district?"

That is an easy question to answer. We know of no democrat in the district who would more fitly fill the position of senator, nor do we know of one who would more faithfully attend to his duties. We think most favorably of ex-Judge Krebs, of Clearfield, as a democratic candidate for Senator from his district."

We do not know that Mr. Krebs is a candidate, however, or that he would consent to be a candidate. Of course if Senator Heinle is a candidate for renomination he should be chosen without opposition. Mr. Heinle has made an admirable record. He stood squarely against the machine throughout his term. He favored all proper legislation and opposed all that was vicious and harmful. He never wavered in antagonism to the ringsters. He deserves to be returned if he is willing to longer fill public station.

Ex-Judge David L. Krebs is one of the ablest lawyers in his section of the state. A service of ten years on the bench added to his previous and subsequent experience at the bar have most adequately equipped him to successfully stand at the forefront in his profession. As a Democrat, no man in the state is more deeply grounded in his convictions. He has great weight in his party and is one of the recognized state leaders. A senate made up of such gentlemen as Heinle and Krebs would, indeed, be like the "old time" body of which our Commonwealth was justly proud.

Of course we have no concern in the nomination of a Democratic candidate for the senate from this district. This is a matter for the Democracy to dispose of. Nevertheless we believe Senator Heinle's admirable record merits his endorsement for a renomination.

SCIENTIFIC GARDENING TAUGHT.

Scientific gardening is taught in the national schools of Sweden and in the seminaries for the education of national school teachers. There is a school garden in nearly every rural school district in the kingdom. The garden is placed near the schoolhouse, and the children receive practical instruction in the cultivation of plants, berries, flowers, herbs and fruits, the management of hotbeds, greenhouses, etc. —Boston "Budget."

A MEETING OF THE LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE OF THE STATE GRANGE WAS HELD AT THE BOLTON HOTEL, HARRISBURG, MARCH 5TH AND 10TH.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

The members present were W. F. Hill of Crawford County, Master of the State Grange, Hon. Hampton W. Rice of Bucks County, Hon. Leonard Rhone of Centre County, Hon. W. T. Creasy of Columbia County and Hon. Louis Piolett of Bradford County.

The Committee discussed the various conditions of the Pennsylvania farmer and unanimously agreed to the following statement:

On the Question of Good Roads the Committee reaffirms its position advocated at the last session of the Legislature, namely that the State should collect a special fund for road improvement by taxing all personal and corporate property and distribute the same to the several townships of the State in proportion to the number of miles of public roads in each.

In this connection we commend to all interested in road improvement the address of the Secretary of this Committee presented at the Buffalo International Good Roads Congress, and obtainable free from the United States Department of Agriculture, Public Road Inquiries Bulletin No. 21.

The severity of the recent freshets and the immense damage done thereby call forcibly to mind the needs for the preservation of our forests and we recommend that farmers and others plant forest seeds and trees on hillsides and rough and waste lands, which in time would hold the snows and rains from sudden flow and prevent soil from being washed away. In this connection we desire to specially commend the good work done by our forestry Commissioner, Dr. J. T. Rothrock, and we would urge upon people generally, greater care and assistance in preventing forest fires.

We respectfully call the attention of the present Secretary of Agriculture to the law creating the Department of Agriculture wherein provision is made requiring the presentation of the subject of taxation, and regret that he has ignored the request of the State Grange, the State Board of Agriculture, and the requirements of the law in refusing to provide for the discussion of the subject of taxation at our Farmers Institutes.

We also call the attention of the Governor and the Secretary of Agriculture to the Act of the Legislature appropriating $35,000, of which $5,000, was set aside for a State Agricultural exhibit at the Charleston Exposition, and would inquire why this provision of the Act has not been carried into effect, thereby showing the agricultural resources of the State. We condemn this negligence and inefficiency as being on a par with the failure of the enforcement of the Oleo laws.

We hereby enter our protest against the expenditure of the $5,000, for any other purpose than that provided for in the Act.

We urge the United States Senators from Pennsylvania to use all honorable means to further the passage of the House measure providing for the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people.

We hereby thank the members of the House of Representatives from Pennsylvania who voted in favor of the Henry Oleo Bill, and urge its passage through the Senate.

We again enter our protest against the passage of the Irrigation and Ship Subsidy bills.

We insist that the Grange platform, of a Tariff for all or a Tariff for none, be carried out in the adjustment of our import duties on our new foreign possessions, and a reduction of duty on farm products shall be followed by a corresponding reduction on manufactured products.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, the Standard oil magnate, placed to his credit $8,000,000 last Saturday, and, says the Public Ledger, it was a half holiday, at that.

A WONDERFUL ESCAPE.

Terrible Experience of a Hunter With an Indian Band.

One of the most remarkable instances of the escape of a white man from the Indians was that of John Colter, a famous hunter and trapper. On the day in question he and his companion were surrounded by 600 savage warriors. The companion was instantly killed, and Colter was captured. His foes had no intention of saving his life, however. They wanted the sport of putting him to the torture or at least of playing with him as a cat plays with a mouse. The chief asked him if he could run. He said, "Not much."

He was released and told to save his life if he could.

Colter darted away at high speed, and most of the 600 savages set off after him. There was a plain before him six miles wide, bounded on the far side by a river fringed with trees. Colter had always been famous as a runner, and his practice now stood him in good stead. He made straight across the plain for the stream, and the yells of his pursuers lent him wings. His foes had removed every shred of clothing from his body, and the plain was covered with prickly pears, so that his unprotected feet were lacerated at every stride.

Half way across the plain he glanced back and saw that only a few Indians were following him. Again he ran on and soon realized that one of his pursuers was nearing him. He redoubled his efforts, and blood gushed from his nostrils and flowed down over his breast.

The fringe of trees was near, but a hasty backward look showed him the pursuing brave close upon him with spear raised. Moved by a sudden impulse, Colter stopped, turned and faced the savage with outstretched arms.

The Indian was so taken aback at this unexpected movement that he stumbled and fell! This was Colter's opportunity. He ran back, seized the spear and, pinning his antagonist to the ground, ran on.

Other savages came on, fiercer than before at the death of their comrade, but Colter reached the trees, plunged into their midst and then into the river and swam to a pile of driftwood that had lodged. He dived beneath it and stuck his head up between two logs covered with smaller timbers and brush.

The Indians came up and searched for several hours, but failed to find him. Again and again they walked over the driftwood. Luckily they did not fire it, as he feared they would. At last they went away. Then Colter swam out and fled through the forest.

Seven days he went on, living on roots and berries, with no clothing, until at last he reached a trading post on the Bighorn river. He never fully recovered from the effects of this terrible experience.—Youth's Companion.

His Bank Signature.

A case for a handwriting expert was noticed at one of the downtown banks the other day. A treasurer of one of the many charitable organizations of this city had received a check to be devoted to that certain charity, and he was desirous of acknowledging it, but could not read the signature. He took the check to the bank on which it was drawn and questioned one of the clerks as to the signature and was told that it was genuine, but could not get the desired information. It was next taken to the paying teller, who also declared that it was genuine, but even he could not make out who it was and had to consult the card catalogue. There was not the slightest resemblance between the signature to the check and the real name.—New York Post.

The "Bad" Boys.

The "bad" boys are often the best boys in the neighborhood. All they want is a chance to do something. Don't expect healthy, active boys to want to be tied up in books and so called improving occupations continually. If boys are not given good ideas to work upon, such as they always get in kindergartens, manual training and other up to date schools, they are sure to be in harmful mischief, because boys with vim and "get there" in them are bound to be busy. Give them tools and materials to work with; encourage them to make sleds, carts, boats and various kinds of playthings. Don't ever give a "bad" boy up. Give him something to do.

Vanished Interest.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "do you think that women ought to be prevented from voting?"

"Certainly not."

"Wouldn't you try to stop me if I tried to go to the polls?"

"Not for an instant."

"Well, then, what in the world is the use of wanting to vote?"—Washington Star.

From Bad to Worse.

Myer—I believe we will follow the same occupation in the next world that we do here on earth.

Gyer—Get out! What would plumbers do in a place where the water pipes couldn't freeze, even if there was any water?—Chicago News.

"Is the jury still out?" asked the attorney for the defendant of Judge Wayback.

"I guess some of 'em is," replied the judge sagely. "They've bin playin' poker fer the past three hours."—Ohio State Journal.

A QUEER BUSINESS.

Making Up Beggars So That They Will Excite Public Sympathy.

"How beggars are made" might be made the subject of a singularly interesting article. And it would refer not to the unkind cuts of fortune, but to the appliances whereby a certain deft and none too scrupulous manufacturer equips men and women who, for purposes of their own, wish to be considered lame, halt or blind. That it is easier to be crippled than to work is the maxim upon which this particular trade is established.

"I'm what is called a street 'sham fakir,'" said one of these dealers in disguises recently. "I fake up most of the sham disabled mill operatives, crippled sailors, etc., and charge 'em a small fee. If it's a woman with a tale that her husband beats her, I paint her a black eye and put her arm in a sling. Say it's a man on a 'blind' lay. Well, I paint some scars on his face to imitate the marks of a lead explosion and give him a green eye shade and a 'blind' card.

"If a man's really maimed, it makes it easier. Suppose he's been run over and had his leg off. I paint a picture of a burning house and him jumping out of a top window with a child in his arms and a yarn under it, 'Kind friends, I lost my leg through rescuing my employer's child.' That's a sure take of a 'fiver' a day.

"I make all these rigs myself," he said, "and hire 'em out. It pays, but I have to keep dark, for the police are very down on my sort. This hollow wooden cap with an iron hook fits over your head, and here's a clubfoot boot and yonder a pair for both feet.

"A queer business? You'd say so if you knew the jobs I'm asked to do sometimes. Only yesterday a woman wanted vitriol scars made on her face and actually wanted me to use real vitriol. Didn't know what she was asking? Oh, yes! Why, bless you, some beggars'll maul themselves horribly to excite sympathy. In fact, they'd do anything rather than work."—New York World.

SPRINKLING SINGAPORE.

The Solemn Procession That Accompanies the Watering Cart.

Poultney Bigelow in his description of the marvelous progress made by the city of Singapore under English rule gave a quaint picture of the manner in which the streets are watered:

The watering cart was drawn by little white bullocks and driven by Malays with turbans. It seemed to take five Malays to do this driving. One roosted aloft on top of the barrel for the purpose of controlling the outgo of water. He seemed very proud of his appointment. Another native in a big turban roosted on the pole and controlled the little cattle.

Then there was a man in thin brown legs and much turban who walked solemnly behind enjoying a footbath. He was obviously a government functionary, although his exact sphere of usefulness I could not discover. He appeared to be something in the nature of a rear guard.

Then there was a "foreloper," or advance guard, for the purpose of clearing the way. There appeared to be an idea that the little bullocks might suddenly go mad and rush ahead. At any rate, it gave congenial employment to one more native, and that was something.

There was yet another, who bent down now and then to pick up a piece of stone or brush away some irregularity unseen by ordinary eyes.

This outfit was a treat to me. It was solemn; it was full of self consciousness; it was magnificently oriental.

I have seen men in sublime moments; I have seen the red capped station master of Germany strut up and down his platform when an imperial train was about to arrive, but even that impressed me less than the watering cart of Singapore, with its municipal hierarchy of Malay ministers, each earning perhaps 2 cents a day.

Doves and Coronations.

At the ancient ceremonies of coronation of the French kings, after the anointing had been performed, some white doves were let loose in the church. This was supposed to symbolize the power of the Holy Ghost in directing the king's actions. A similar idea seems to have inspired all early kings, for among the English regalia is the rod of equity or the scepter with the dove. This is simply a golden rod with a mound at the top, which supports a cross. On this cross is a dove, fashioned of white enamel, with expanded wings. Some fine diamonds ornament the rod in various places.

No Excuse This Time.

"It was a new gun, your honor," protested the prisoner, "and I did not know it was loaded."

"But," argued the judge, "the dealer has just told us that you did not pay for the weapon."

"What has that to do with it?"

"Well, if you didn't pay for it the dealer must have charged it for you."

And the judge tried to look as much like the pictures of Solomon as he could.—Baltimore American.

Wrong Presumption.

RISTORI AS A DIPLOMAT.

How the Great Actress Won Gortchakof to Her Cause.

Ristori was charged with the mission of bringing round Prince Gortchakof to the side of Italian unity when she went in 1860 to a play at St. Petersburg. As the court was in mourning she was commanded to come and recite "Maria Stuarda" at the Winter palace. Mme. Ristori recited her great part and electrified the court. The czar shed tears.

After she retired from the room where the imperial party was to a salon filled with courtiers, the czarowitz brought up Prince Gortchakof and presented him. He had something to say about the emotional character of Ristori's recitation. He wondered how she could have been so deeply stirred by the sufferings of one who had perished so many centuries ago.

"I was not thinking of her," cried Ristori. "I was thinking of a living and discrowned martyr, supposed to be dead, but living. I was thinking of my beloved Italy. I wanted, under the image of Maria Stuarda, to represent to the minds of their imperial majesties the cause of Italian independence and unity, and I think they vibrated in unison with my patriotic efforts. I now want to convert you, prince, for I am afraid you think that Italy must not be resuscitated, though she has risen as if from the dead and is full of life, energy, hope."

Gortchakof answered in diplomatic commonplaces. At length he appeared moved by Ristori's eloquence and said: "I promise to refer the matter to his imperial majesty. You have not pleaded in vain."

Ralph Waldo Emerson's Spree.

There is an old tradition that tells how Ralph Waldo Emerson, the Sage of Concord, once went on a wild, reckless spree. Weary of Marcus Aurelius, Alcott and the serene heights of Concord, he resolved to make a plunge into the vortex of crime and folly in a great city to see vice and the vicious at close range and thus learn by experience of the underworld.

He went straight to the saloon of one Brigham in Boston, in those days farfamed among Harvard students as the aboriginal inventor of more "fancy drinks" than any one since the days of Father Bacchus. Bewildered by the festive scene and the endless list of beverages he had never heard of, he asked Brigham which one of the whole bibulous catalogue might be relied on to impart the largest sum total of experience in the shortest possible time, to which devout inquiry genial Brigham, who at once took in the situation, is said to have replied, "Oh, I guess a glass of lemonade would be the right thing for you!"—Boston Herald.

Supplied the Want.

A certain writer while in San Francisco visited the new house of an old friend, a gentleman of Irish extraction. The hostess evidently took great pride in the house, the furnishings of which were new and beautiful and gave every evidence of taste and refinement. The writer, who has an eye for the beautiful, gave unstinted praise to everything he saw.

"But," he said, "I am sorry to see that your house, beautiful as it is, lacks one ornament which no Irish house should be without."

"What is that?" she asked unsuspiciously.

"A pig," replied the writer, with a satisfied chuckle.

The hostess' eyes sparkled.

"It did," she said indignantly, "but you have supplied the want."—New York Times.

English Names For Towns.

Many names of towns in England have been appropriated for a similar use in this country. These names frequently indicate in themselves the origin of the towns. For instance, names ending in "chester" or "cester" or "caster," such as Dorchester, Worcester and Lancaster, undoubtedly apply to sites of old military settlements or camps, and the termination is derived from "castra," the Latin word for camp. If the name of a place ends in "coln," like Lincoln, then it, too, is of Roman origin, because the Latin word for colony is colonia. When the syllable "by" ends the word, like Rugby, we then know that the Danes are responsible for the name, for the Danish word for town is by.

Peculiarities of the Opossum.

The American opossum is one of the most curious animals living in the United States. It is the only one that carries its young in a pouch like the kangaroo. It is the only animal that can feign death perfectly. It is remarkable for hanging by its tail like a monkey. It has hands resembling those of a human being. Its snout is like a hog's, while its mouth is liberally furnished with teeth. Its eyes are like a rat's, and it hisses like a snake.

Too Attractive.

"Now, here," said the salesman, "is a very fine umbrella. The handle, you will observe, is especially attractive."

"That's just what I want to avoid. Every umbrella I ever owned has been entirely too attractive."—San Francisco Post.

Judicial Differentiation.

Dipper (at wayside tavern)—That was Judge Close, who just took a solitary at the bar; know him, I suppose.

Tipper—Oh, fairly well.

Dipper—Exacting fellow. I owed him a small bill at one time, and, being tied up at the time, I went to him for a little indulgence, and he wouldn't even give me thirty days.

Hardcase (interposing)—Excuse me, gentlemen, but I had a little different experience. I didn't owe him anything, and he gave me seven years.—Boston Courier.

THE Standard Oil Trust has been beaten to a standstill by a man with a tank wagon in Jeffersonville, Ind. The trust tried for two years to drive the man out of business because he would not buy his oil at a high price from Mr. Rockefeller, and sought to ruin him by destructive competition. When the trust reduced its price to five cents a gallon the tank wagon man continued selling at ten cents, and the people of Jeffersonville stood by him and paid his price rather than aid the trust in destroying his business. The combination was too strong for Mr. Rockefeller, and he has given up the fight.

To put the brake on the wagon going down a hill is a help to the horse, when the wagon is heavily loaded. But what driver would think of applying the brake to a loaded wagon going up hill? If he did his sensible horse would probably balk. Many a man is in the same condition of pulling a load up a hill with the brake set against him. When his stomach is out of order, and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition impaired in their functions, a friction is set up which has to be overcome in addition to the performance of daily duties. A foul stomach makes a foggy brain, and the man with a disordered stomach has often to grope his way through the day's buisness like a man in a fog. He forgets appointments. Problems seem present to his mind "wrong end to." This condition is entirely remedied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts the stomach and digestive and nutritive system into a condition of perfect health, and gives a clear brain, a steady hand and a light step for the day's duties. When constipation clogs the channels of the body, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will work an effectual cure of that disastrous disease.

UNCLE SAM'S MONEY.

THE SAFEGUARDS THAT HEDGE ABOUT ITS MANUFACTURE.

Care With Which Even the Shavings of the Peculiar Paper Used Are Handled—Counting and Recounting the Treasured Sheets.

Uncle Sam's paper money has its birth in the bureau of engraving and printing in Washington. Here a corps of engravers cut its lines into plates of steel. Five hundred men and women are in one room. It is the largest printing office in the world. Here are struck from these plates the notes which we give the butcher and the baker. Each steel plate when not in actual use is stored away in a great burglar proof vault to which only the highest officials know the combination. At the side of each printing press is a little indicator like a bicycle cyclometer, which keeps tally of every piece of paper money printed. Thus is Uncle Sam kept informed as to the exact number of paper notes of all denominations which leave his presses daily.

If there is any secret which Uncle Sam jealously guards, it is the process of manufacturing the fiber paper upon which his money notes are printed. He pays a Massachusetts firm a big price for it, and this firm does its work under the surveillance of a government agent. The paper is manufactured of the finest rags, cleaned, boiled and mashed into pulp. As it is rolled into thin sheets silk threads are introduced into it by a secret process. These are the distinguishing marks making imitation of the paper well nigh impossible.

The sheets of paper, already counted twice and placed in uniform packages at the paper mill, are stored in a treasury vault and issued to the bureau of engraving and printing as wanted. Before leaving the treasury they are counted three times more, and the receiving official at the bureau must receipt for them. Then the bundles are unwrapped, and the sheets are counted twenty-eight times by a corps of women. This is to insure that each printer gets the recorded number—no more, no less. Before any employee of the division in which this paper is kept can leave for home each night he must exhibit to a watchman at the door a pass certifying that every fragment of every sheet passing through his fingers has been accounted for.

If one sheet of this precious paper be lost, the entire force of men and women having access to the room where the misplacement has occurred are kept in, like so many school children, to find it. Each sheet is issued from the vault for the printing of a definite amount of money upon it. If the lost sheet were intended to ultimately represent $4,000 worth of notes, the group of employees to whom the responsibility of its misplacement has been traced must make good that amount if they cannot locate it within a reasonable time.

Twenty-four times more are the sheets containing the printed money counted after leaving the presses. Then they are sealed in packages of 1,000, placed on racks in a drying room of 130 degrees temperature, unpacked, thoroughly examined, smoothed in powerful hydraulic presses and packed in wooden cases. These cases are hauled to the treasury in an ironclad wagon. Six guards, heavily armed, accompany this wagon whenever it makes a trip.

No attempt to steal Uncle Sam's money while undergoing any of these stages of manufacture has yet been detected. As a matter of fact, the money would be practically useless, for its printing is not completed until after it makes this guarded journey to the treasury. There the finishing touch is added in the printing of the colored seal upon the face of each note. With the six sealing presses the same precautions are taken as with the two hundred and fifty big money presses in the other building. Each sheet coming from the former has a row of notes printed upon it. The sheets are put through small machines, operated by girls, who cut out the individual notes. Even the small strips, falling like shavings from their machines, must be carefully collected, sent to the bureau of engraving and printing and there boiled into pulp. An employee found with even one of these ribbons of waste paper is liable to imprisonment for fifteen years and a fine of $5,000.

Between these different processes the paper money has been counted and recounted six additional times. Finally the single notes are placed in stacks of 100, with all of the blue numbers printed on their faces in sequence. They are then wrapped in paper, labeled, sealed with red wax and stored in the great treasury vaults. Thus each piece of paper money now in circulation has been officially counted sixty-three times.

In our mints the system of accounting for the blank metal out of which the finished coins are stamped, of keeping tally on the coining machines' work, of counting the finished product, of packing it, of sealing it in cloth bags, of transporting it under guard, of counting it many times again and finally of storing it away is practically the same.

There is not a day in the year when any one of the seven great treasury vaults does not contain in coin, bullion, notes, certificates or bonds sufficient to make you or me one of the richest of the world's multimillionaires. The most capacious of these strong boxes are in the basement of the treasury. A large guard of men—mostly old soldiers, commanded by a captain and lieutenant—watches them day and night. These guardians are heavily armed, and they patrol their beats every quarter hour throughout the night.—Saturday Evening Post.

ODD CLASSIFICATION.

The Way a Carload of Tramps Was Designated In Mexico.

In Mexico the billing of railroad freight requires a knowledge and precision which can only be attained by years of practice. This is due to the peculiar classification of various articles and the different rates of customs duties. A case recently occurred which severely taxed the ingenuity of the station agent, although he finally succeeded in meeting all requirements.

The town was overrun with tramps, and the council determined that steps must be taken to rid the city of them. It was finally decided to round them up and ship them out of the country. It would be too expensive to purchase tickets, so they concluded to hire stock cars and ship their tramps as freight.

The cars were procured, and by the aid of the police the tramps were gathered, but then the question arose as to how the shipment should be designated on the bill of lading.

The term "persons" could not be used, as it would conflict with the state law relative to proper accommodations for the traveling public, and it would also be in violation of the company's rules governing the rates of passenger traffic. "Marketable commodities" would not do, as that would subject the carload to a heavy duty upon crossing the tariff zone. Again they would have to be classified as "perishable" or the dispatcher might order the car sidetracked along the line.

But fortunately there is a customs law which exempts certain kinds of curiosities from duty, and so, after much consideration, the tramps were billed and forwarded as so many hundredweight of "perishable curiosities—unfit to eat."

Curing a Duelist.

It is said that a Harvard man who was visiting Paris in some innocent way offended a club member, who promptly slapped his face, the Frenchman expecting, of course, to receive a challenge for a duel. Instead of this proceeding the Harvard man turned and looked for an instant at his adversary, then quick as a flash pulled back his strong right hand and sent the fellow rolling across the floor, breaking the bones of his nose in two places.

After a few weeks, when the Frenchman had sufficiently recovered from the incident to discover what had happened, he issued a formal challenge to his American offender to fight a duel, and, being the recipient of the challenge, the American was permitted to select the weapons. He promptly chose a baseball and, being an old pitcher, threw with an accuracy which resulted in the Frenchman's getting another wound on the nose, curing him entirely of the love for dueling.

How New York Sleeps.

New York is a city of infinite variety. There are those who have beds without sleep and those who sleep without beds. Three thousand of her winter residents slumber in the cradles of the canal barges that come each year from the canals of New York state, from the great lakes and Lake Champlain to spend the winter months moored in New York harbor. In the tenement districts a man, his wife and his four or six or eight or more children sleep in a single room, and one who goes about the city finds many a device for slumber and repose. On Washington street, on the west side, where the Turks, the Greeks, the Assyrians and the Egyptians live near neighbors to a colony of Irish, is a queer little oriental hotel on the top floor of a tenement.—Leslie's Weekly.

Confederate Camp Flags.

The Confederate stars and bars were in 1863 supplemented by the camp flag. This was in size and shape like the other, except that it was white, with no stripes, and the battleflag in the upper corner next the staff. It was found deficient in actual service in that, displaying so much white, it was sometimes apt to be mistaken for a flag of truce, and on Feb. 24, 1865, it gave place to the last flag of the Confederacy, the outer half being a red vertical bar. Appearing so late in the war, it was not so familiar as the others—in fact, it was comparatively little known.

Rome's Churches.

The guidebooks are responsible for the popular impression that there are 365 churches in Rome, one for every day in the year, but that is a mistake. The exact number is 352, including the four great basilicas outside the walls. Besides these there are about 918 chapels connected with monasteries, nunneries, schools and private palaces and a large number of shrines erected by individuals in different parts of the city to fulfill vows or show gratitude for deliverance from peril or sickness. There are 68 monastic establishments, 42 for monks and 26 for nuns.

The Umbrella Conscience.

A correspondent contributes another to the series of umbrella myths. During a smart shower a gentleman who was unprovided hurriedly overtook an acquaintance whom he chanced to see some distance ahead of him carrying an umbrella, intending to ask if he might be permitted to share its shelter. He was almost up to him, when suddenly the other turned around and with a guilty look thrust it into his hands and vanished.—London Globe.

His Weak Spot.

Cassidy—Sorra the word.

Casey—Sure, the big stame hammer in the foundry dropped down on his chist an' killed him.

Cassidy—Well, Oi'm not surprised, for he always had a wake chist.—Philadelphia Press.

DIAMOND BACK TERRAPIN.

Formerly Despised, They Are Now Considered a Delicacy.

Half a century or so ago diamond back terrapin were fed to slaves and hogs. Today they are the rarest delicacy known to the epicurian world, says the Philadelphia North American.

Then they sold for $1 a barrel, and laborers, when hiring out, specified that they must not be compelled to eat terrapin more than twice a week. Today a barrel is cheap at $800, and millionaires travel hundreds of miles for a chance to feast on this most delicious of all meats.

Of course this means genuine diamond backs. There are many imitations.

Every first class restaurant in the country features "terrapin a la Maryland" on its menu, but in not one case out of a hundred is the real terrapin served. The diner regales himself on what he believes to be Maryland's choicest dish. Instead he is merely eating fresh water turtles, "sliders" or "North Carolina goldens."

The reason is simple. Restaurateurs don't serve real diamond backs because they can't get them. The world's total terrapin population does not exceed 25,000 of legal size, and these are confined to the shores of the Chesapeake bay, the only place that produces them.

Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York enjoy a monopoly. These three cities get practically the entire output, but few ever find their way across the Blue Ridge. The epicure unfortunate enough to be born in Chicago or St. Louis must either come east or forego the joys of terrapin.

To select a real diamond back amateurs should be guided by these distinguishing and characteristic markings:

It is of a greenish, dark olive color, sometimes running to spotted gray, yellow on the plate which surrounds the shell and has concentric dark stripes along the plate on both shells. The sides of the head are a dirty white, sprinkled with small black spots. The bottom shell is of whitish yellow.

The males are much larger than the females and have the concentric streaks much better defined. The female has the more delicate flesh. The male can be distinguished by his toe nails, which are much longer than those of the female.

Martyrdom, the apotheosis of resignation, comes more naturally to women than to men, more hardly to men than to women.—"Count Hannibal."

True self control is to be got in the midst of struggle. It is not mutilation in the midst of natural desires, but the subordination of each desire to the good of the whole man.—"Culture and Restraint."

The Poor Little Fellow.

The street Arab lives by his wits, if he lives at all well. Two youngsters who peddle cough drops on Chestnut street have learned this thoroughly. One of these boys is much larger than the other, and a crowd was attracted to the corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets the other day to see the big boy pummeling the little boy. At the proper time the big one disappeared, leaving the little one surrounded by sympathetic onlookers. Several persons, pitying the "poor little fellow," gave him nickels and pennies.

The sequel showed that the "poor little fellow" was in league with his supposed tormentor. No sooner had the crowd dispersed than the big boy came along for his divvy. The scene was repeated several times, always with the same result.—Philadelphia Times.

Obliterating Smallpox Pittings.

Scientific treatment and much skill are required to remove smallpox pittings successfully. This treatment is given by a masseuse, but massage is not used, as it would never remove the pittings. The process requires a careful removing, little by little, of old cuticle. The new, which takes the place, is smoother than its predecessor and requires about ten days for treatment. Thus, after a couple or more treatments and in a comparatively short time, the deepest scars are replaced by a perfectly smooth skin.

Not to His Advantage.

"Huh!" grumbled Mr. Skinnay, who was being uncomfortably crowded by the jolly looking fat man. "These cars should charge by weight."

"Think so?" replied the fat man. "Why, they'd hardly think it worth while to stop for you."—Catholic Standard and Times.

But for money and the need of it there would not be half the friendship that there is in the world. It is powerful for good if divinely used.—George MacDonald.

HUMAN ALARM CLOCKS.

How Messenger Boys Are Utilized as Awakeners In New York.

At 1 o'clock the other morning a well dressed man strolled into one of the uptown messenger offices. He had been dining out and evidently, from the rakish tilt to his opera hat, the dinner had been a success.

"I want a messenger boy to come and waken me in the morning."

"What hour?" The clerk was all business, for the request was not unusual.

"Seven o'clock. I've got to catch a train," he explained.

"All right, sir; 7 o'clock," assured the clerk.

The man turned as he was going out of the door. "Have the boy hammer the door hard," he cautioned. "I'm a 'dead one' when I get to sleep, and I've got to catch that train." Then he went home and went to sleep with absolute confidence.

The whistles were blowing 7 o'clock. A small boy in uniform hammered with a club, his "wakener," on the door of the man who had dined the night before. "Get up in there!" he cried. "Get up, you old sleepyhead!"

"You go away from my door," comes in sleepy tones from the room. "It's a mistake. I don't want to get up."

"Oh, yes, you do, my dodo bird," is the fresh reply. And the tattoo on the door goes on with redoubled strength.

"All right, boy; I'm awake now!" howls the man who has been sleeping. "You can go away now."

"Not till you've signed this receipt," the boy insists.

The man has to crawl out of bed and come to the door. The boy has a paper ready, and as he is a careful man he reads before signing. It certifies that he has been thoroughly wakened by Messenger No. 432 and that he is not going back to bed again that day.

"Is this a joke?" he asks the boy.

"Naw, 'tain't no joke," replied the messenger through his teeth. "If we'se didn't make you'se do this, you'd be down to de office about noon a-howlin' dat we didn't wake you'se. Now, if you'se goes back to your bag of feathers, we'se got you'n in black an' white, an' no mistake."—New York Tribune.

COOKING FISH IN ENGLAND.

The Method Used There Renders the Flesh Flaky and Juicy.

John Bull certainly knows how to cook fish, to prove which fact one has only to notice the juiciness and good flavor of the first bit of fish, served perhaps at a little out of the way inn, that one tastes in England. We Americans have at command many fine varieties of fish, but too often find it sent to table in a "woolly," tasteless condition.

An American cousin visiting in an English family made bold to ask what method of cooking "sea food" was prevalent in England and found that there the importance of the thorough cooking of fish as a safeguard against ptomaines is as much regarded as with us. Our old country friends, however, assure us that there is not the slightest occasion to render fish dry and tasteless in order to insure thorough cooking if proper attention is given to basting. One cannot well imagine anything hotter than boiling fat, and laving plentifully with this is to make use of the surest ammunition possible for the routing of deadly bacteria.

Instead of warning amateurs against underdone fish, let copious basting with sweet boiling fat be insisted on, and in place of a woolly, flavorless result there will be the opposite—flakiness and juiciness. Overboiling will produce woolliness as surely as overfrying or baking. To insure tender, solid flakes in, for instance, boiled cod or halibut and to avoid dissipating the flavor make sure the water boils when the fish is put in; keep at a gentle boil; allow only ten minutes to the pound and tie carefully in cheesecloth that has been washed and boiled before using. Cod well basted with hot olive oil or any good fat will be almost gamy in flavor, as will cod steaks cooked in deep fat.—Washington Star.

Unpoetical Poets.

Poets are not always poetical. A tale is told in a contemporary of Aubrey de Vere growing ecstatic before Newman over the "sweet pealing of the Oxford chimes" and asked why they rang with so inviting an insistence. "Only young men keeping themselves warm," replied Newman.

Tennyson gave several unexpected answers of the same character. He asked a young lady who had shown herself more enthusiastic than intelligent over the beauties of "Maud" what birds she supposed they were which called "Maud, Maud, Maud!" "Nightingales," said the enthusiast. "No; rooks you ——." But the exact vocative is still a matter of discussion.—London Globe.

Naming the Baby.

"Have you named the baby?" asked the admiring neighbor.

"Not yet," said the proud young mother. "We're going to christen him Sunday."

"Dear me! What an odd name! I'd almost as soon call him after Robinson Crusoe's man Friday and be done with it."—Chicago Tribune.

A COOL RECEPTION.

It Was Not Surprising, Though, In View of the Explanation.

Letters of introduction are not invariably serviceable. For one reason, they may be too frank. Harry Furniss in his "Confessions of a Caricaturist" says that when a brother artist was setting forth on his travels in foreign climes he was provided with a letter of introduction to a certain British consul.

The writer of the letter inclosed it in one to the artist, saying that he would find the consul a most arrant snob, a bumptious, arrogant humbug, a cad to the backbone. Still, he would probably offer some courtesies to any one who had a good social standing and thus compensate the traveler for having to come in contact with such an insufferable vulgarian.

On the return of the artist to England the writer of the letter asked how he had fared with the consul.

"Well, my dear fellow," drawled the artist, "he did not receive me very warmly, and he did not ask me to dinner. In fact, he struck me as being rather cool."

"Well, you do surprise me," rejoined his friend. "He's a cad, as I told you in my letter, but he's very hospitable, and I really can't understand this state of things. You gave him my letter of introduction?"

"Why, I thought so; but, do you know, on my journey home I discovered it in my pocketbook. So I must have handed to him instead your note to me about him!"

The explanation was quite adequate.

Brains Make Soldiers.

A discussion recently took place in the smoking room of a Swiss hotel between a German and an American as to the merits of their respective armies. The former believed in discipline and trained troops. The American believed in training, too, but held that a lot depended upon the material trained. "Given," quoth he, "that brains are lacking, no amount of physical training will make up for them. Take the American troops, comparatively untrained, and see how well they fight. It's because of their brains."

"Nonsense," rejoined the aroused German. "Untrained troops can never stand against well drilled ones. Take your country, for example, with practically no drilled army. What would you do"— He paused impressively and then said, "What would you do if Germany landed an army of 250,000 perfectly drilled and perfectly equipped men on your shores?"

"Bury them," was the quiet but complete rejoinder.—Detroit Free Press.

Wonders in the Equine Foot.

The foot of a horse is one of the most ingenious and unexampled pieces of mechanism in the whole range of animal structure. The outside hoof is made up of a series of thin vertical laminæ of horn, about 500 in number. Into this are fitted about 500 more thin laminæ, which belong to the coffin bone, both sets being elastic and adherent. The edges of a quire of paper inserted leaf by leaf into another quire will furnish a good idea of the arrangement of the laminæ in all the feet, amounting to about 4,000. These are distributed in the most secure manner and in a way that every spring is acted upon in an oblique direction. Verily there is a display of nature's wonder everywhere.

Stopping a Fast Train.

People often wax impatient because express trains cannot be stopped at some unimportant little station at which they wish to alight. They should consider the cost of satisfying their whim. A train going at a rate of sixty miles an hour can be stopped within 120 yards from the first application of the brake. Now, enough power is lost to carry this same train fifteen miles over a plane surface. First there is the momentum acquired by the train flying at this remarkable rate of speed, then the loss of steam in applying the brakes and lastly the extra amount of coal to compensate for all these losses, for all of which impatient passengers would not care to pay.

ARBOR DAYS.

Governor Stone Has Designated the 4th and 18th of the Month of April.

HARRISBURG, March 15—Governor Stone today issued a proclamation designating April 4 and 18 as Arbor Days. The proclamation states that the recent floods show the need of forest preservations in Pennsylvania. It follows:

The growing demands of our industries have in recent years brought about such a rapid destruction of our forests, that it became necessary to take active steps for their rehabilitation.

The forestry department of Pennsylvania is rapidly acquiring forest lands and establishing forestry reservations, and efforts in this direction will be productive of great good; but if the ends sought are to be accomplished, it is of vast importance that these be planted upon the unproductive lands of the commonwealth, in order that the damage already done may be in part at least repaired.

The recent floods have again emphasized the danger in further reducing the wooded areas. It the unproductive lands of the state were adequately protected by trees, the heavy rains would pass into the streams more slowly and the loss to the commonwealth would be infinitely less.

Owing to the frequent floods and resultant muddy and impure water, the cities and towns of the state are fast realizing the necessity of obtaining their water supply from the headwaters of the streams. Almost all the towns in the state can have pure water if forests are maintained at the source of their respective streams.

These conditions make it the duty of every citizen to aid in this beneficent work, which affects not only the state at large, but each individual in the commonwealth.

In order that our citizens, both young and old, may have an opportunity to contribute their share in this laudable work, I, William A. Stone, governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with law, do hereby designate and proclaim Friday, the 4th day of April, and Friday, the 18th day of April, A. D. 1902, to be observed as Arbor days throughout the commonwealth.

Two days are set apart for the observance of this custom, inasmuch as the climatic conditions may render one of these days more favorable for the purpose intended than the other, the selection is left with the citizens of the various sections of the commonwealth.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Professor James P. Hughes Resigns as Principal of the Bellefonte Academy.

After a continuous service of thirty-four years as principal of the Bellefonte Academy, Prof. James P. Hughes finds the responsibilities of the position too exacting for his advanced years and has tendered his resignation as principal to the Academy board of trustees. At an adjourned annual meeting of the board held Wednesday afternoon at the office of John M. Dale Esq., the resignation of Prof. Hughes was referred to a committee of five with instructions to consider the same and report to the board at a meeting fixed for Saturday March 22nd. Prof. Hughes is in his seventy-fifth year and in April will have reached the fiftieth year of his education work.

—The Lock Haven Express of Friday said: "Dr. J. W. Bright, of Rebersburg telephone this morning to the Hilton's nurses directory the information that six persons of Rebersburg, are ill with symptoms of smallpox. Dr. Bright wanted to secure the service of a nurse." Rumors have been prevalent in Bellefonte concerning the character of this epidemic in Rebersburg, It has been persistently claimed to be black measles of which the late Albert Bierly died in Rebersburg last week. It would seem from Dr. Brights message to Lock Haven that there is no little concern felt in the community and grave doubts as to the black measles theory.

FATAL QUARREL!

The Ending of the Lives of William and Calvin Clayton.

WERE FIGHTING ON THE RAILROAD

When They Were Run Down by a Middle Division Engine—William Was Instantly Killed and Calvin Died at the Hospital.

CORONER WILL MAKE INVESTIGATION

William and Calvin Clayton, two brothers, of Bellwood, lay corpses at the morgue of Undertaker Lafferty, on Chestnut avenue and Eleventh street, and their death is the result of a brothers' quarrel. While they tussled each other in a fight on the railroad a short distance east of the Red Bridge at Juniata at 7.30 o'clock Wednesday evening they were run down by middle division engine No. 618, in charge of Engineer Kipple. Neither had time to utter a word of forgiveness. William was instantly killed, his head and right arm being severed from his body Calvin was fatally injured and died at the Altoona hospital at 9.40 o'clock. His skull and nose were fractured, his right foot ground off, the left leg crushed, the right arm mangled and his scalp and face lacerated.

The particulars are about as follows; The brothers had been together the greater part of the day and had imbibed freely of intoxicants. They came to Altoona during the afternoon and passed several hours here. About supper time they started for home with a jug of whisky, but when they reached Red Bridge they began to quarrel. They were in the railroad yard and began fighting on the west bound tracks. Several Bellwood boys, among them being John Dillon, Charles Green and Orr Miller, were witnesses of the quarrel, and seeing an engine approaching they endeavored to separate the brothers. Their efforts were of no avail and before the brothers Clayton realized their danger they were struck and their bodies mangled beneath the ponderous locomotive. William was completely decapitated, his death being instantaneous. Clayton still lived when the Bellwood boys and others reached his side. The injured man and the body his of dead brother were brought to the passenger station.

The latter was given in charge of Undertaker Lafferty and the former removed to the hospital, where an examination showed his injuries to be fatal. He lingered until 9.40 o'clock, when he passed away. His body was also removed to Lafferty's morgue.

Coroner McCartney was notified and decided to hold an inquest. The Bellwood boys, John Dillon, Charles Green and Orr Miller, were arrested by Conductor Johnson and crew and turned over to Railroad Officers Hopkins and Baldwin, who locked them up at the police station. They had with them the jug of whiskey the Clayton boys are said to have carried. They will be held as witnesses to appear before the coroner's jury.

The unfortunate men were sons of Jas. Clayton, who works on the Pennsylvania railroad coal tipple at Bellwood. William was aged 32 years and leaves a wife and several children. Calvin was aged 30 yrs, and was employed as a lumberman. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Sudden Death of Renovo's Postmaster.

R. N. Roberts, postmaster at Renovo, died suddenly Friday morning of heart failure. Mr. Roberts was supposed to be in the best of health when he retired Thursday night, about 9 o'clock in the morning he was heard moaning in his room. Those who entered the room found him in an unconscious condition. Physicians were hastily summoned. They did everything in their power to relieve the sufferer but he died at 9.45. The deceased was the second son of Superintendent Thomas A. Roberts of the middle division of the P. & E. R. R. He was about 28 years old and one of Renovo's most popular young men.

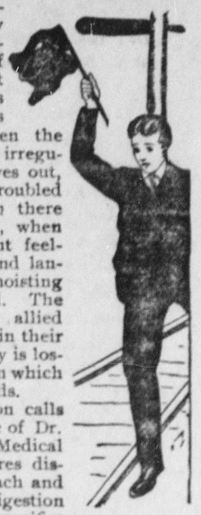
DANGER SIGNALS.



No engineer would be mad enough to run by the flag which signaled danger. What the danger was he might not understand, but he would take no chances. It is different with the average man or woman. They attempt constantly to run by the danger signals of Nature and that attempt costs thousands of lives every year. When the appetite becomes irregular or entirely gives out, when sleep is troubled and broken, when there is a loss of flesh, when there is a constant feeling of dullness and languor, Nature is hoisting the danger signal. The stomach and its allied organs are failing in their work and the body is losing the nutrition on which its strength depends.

Such a condition calls for the prompt use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies and enriches the blood and builds up the body with sound, solid flesh.

"Your kindness to me I can never forget," writes Mrs. Josie E. Clark, of Enterprise, Shelby Co., Mo. "I cannot express half my feelings of gratefulness to you. I had despaired of ever getting well. I had been in bad health for twelve years. Had aches all through me, numb hands, cold feet, and everything I ate distressed me; bowels constipated, was very nervous, depressed and despondent. In fact, I can't express half my bad feelings to you. When I first wrote to you I thought I could never be cured. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and my health is now good. You have my honest recommendation to all sufferers. I think there is no medicine in the world as good as Dr. Pierce's."

If constipated use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure constipation, biliousness and sick headache. They do not produce the "pill habit."

Verdi and His Admirer.

Verdi was once traveling in the same railway carriage with General Tournon, commander of the Ravenna district. They got into conversation, which soon turned on the subject of music, and the general, who did not know his companion, expressed a most enthusiastic preference for that of Italy. "I can hardly go so far with you," replied the other. "For me, art has no frontiers, and I give German music the preference over Italian."

"Indeed, sir," said the general testily. "For my part, I would give all the German operas in the world for one act of 'Rigoletto.'"

"You really must excuse me from following you any further on this ground," replied the composer, blushing a little. "I am Verdi."

The Chief Sense.

All the great families of living things have a dominant sense. We lead our life by sight and make artificial lights to render darkness tolerable. But the creature whom next to ourselves we prefer, the dog, lives in a very different universe. His dominant sense, like that of many other quadrupeds, is the very one we most neglect, the sense of smell. The dog will track his master, never lifting up his head to search the distance; often with hair falling over his eyes he follows on, not troubling himself to shake it aside.

Goldfish.

It may not be generally known that there is cruelty in the keeping of goldfish. Half of such captives die from sheer want of rest. As fish have eyes so formed that they cannot endure the light, in a glass vessel they are in an entirely wrong place, as is evident from the way in which they dash about and go round and round until fairly worn out.

GREAT STRIKE IS OFF.

Fully 20,000 Men Who Have Been Idle Will Go to Work.

THE CRISIS IS OVER IN BOSTON

It was Accomplished by the Efforts of the Mercantile Bodies and the Executives of City and State After Conference.

WHAT THE DECISION MEANS

BOSTON, March 14.—Through the united efforts of representatives of the great merchantile bodies of this city, seconded by the chief executives of city and state in conference with the recognized leaders of organized labor, the great strike of freight handlers and kindred trades represented in the allied freight transportation council was broken tonight. Fully 20,000 men who have been idle for four days will go to work in the morning.

The result was attained at a conference this afternoon at the office of Governor Crane. The decision was at once reported to the Allied Freight Transportation council at a special meeting to-night and unanimously endorsed.

The result of the settlement is a determination of Governor Crane and those representing the merchants of Boston to bring all possible pressure to bear upon the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company to adopt the rules in force upon the Boston and Maine railroad forbidding freight handlers to unload teams except at their own option.

All the old men for whom places can be found will be taken back, but, owing to the suddenness with which the strike was ended and the large number of new men who have been installed, it is likely that many of the old employes will to-morrow find no vacancies ready for them. Eventually, it is believed, they all will regain their old positions.

Teamsters and longshoremen will find an unprecedented demand for their services and traffic of all descriptions, which has been virtually at a standstill for the past three or four days, will be resumed with a rush.

The transporting company, the loading and unloading of whose non-union teams precipitated the strike of the New York, New Haven and Hartford freight handlers, does not appear to have figured in the settlement of the present controversy and as far as that company is concerned the sentiment against it on the part of the labor union is as bitter as ever. Under the new arrangements, however, union men will not be required to load or unload that company's teams.

Can't Keep it Secret.

Sad Accident and Death of a Boy at Valentines Iron Works.

On Wednesday Mortimer Miller the 8 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Miller who live in the little stone house near Valentines iron mill, went down to the sale at Morris Furey's farm. And during the afternoon his two brothers, Robert and Lewis one an engineer and the other a fireman on one of the engines of the Nittany Valley R. R. Co.; had an occasion to go to the ore banks which are only a short distance from Mr. Furey's farm, and the lad seeing his brothers there ran over and got on, and rode nearly to his home when he attempted to jump off. He fell under the wheels. His right leg was cut off near the hip and the left foot was badly crushed. Doctors Hayes, Sebring and Klump were called and attended the boy. The accident happened at 3.30 in the afternoon and the unfortunate lad died at 9 o'clock the same evening.

Repairing Neatly Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

Mr. A. B. Steel of North Spring St. says "I have never had a bad back since I used Doan's Kidney Pills in 1896 I procured them at that time from F. Potts Green's drug store and used them, but I have never had any occasion to use them since. I was so bad with lumbago or soreness across my kidneys that I had to play off work, I was hurt at a barn raising some years ago by a heavy timber swinging and striking me in the back. After that whenever I took cold it always affected my kidneys. This was the case for years but Doan's Kidney Pills finished all my suffering. I can speak as highly of this valuable preparation now as I did then."

A Bad Speculation in Horse Flesh.

Jesse Bathurst and Jesse Dunlap, two Bellefonte boys, are out three dollars on a bad investment in horse flesh. The horse in question was quite a valuable one and was owned by Mike Hazel who boarded it at George Beezer's livery stable.

On Monday the horse was taken violently ill with rheumatism, and as it was suffering a great deal of pain it was thought advisable to put it out of its misery by ending its life. Messrs. Bathurst and Dunlap, however, thought the horse could be cured and offered Hazel one dollar for the animal, which offer was promptly accepted.

On Tuesday morning they went to the stable and the horse was dead, as a result they were compelled to hire Ira From to haul the horse out and bury him, which cost them two dollars.

It is safe to say it will be a long time before the boys speculate in horses again.
